Overall Proficiency Level

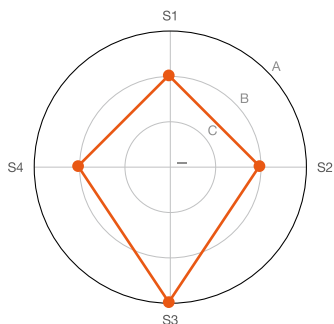

CASEC S Level	Comment
6 160 ~ 200	You are able to appropriately respond to topics about yourself and daily situations by using known vocabulary and expressions with your opinions. You can sufficiently convey detailed information in daily interactions. You have the ability to logically explain thoughts and opinions in detail about various current issues in social settings.
5 130 ~ 159	You are able to respond to topics about daily situations by using known vocabulary and expressions. You have the ability to convey detailed information in everyday life. You can briefly express your opinions in social situations, but the ability to express reasoning is still insufficient. You should aim to develop logical reasoning.
4 100 ~ 129	You are able to respond appropriately to topics about yourself and daily situations by using known vocabulary and expressions. You have the ability to convey detailed information in everyday life. However, your ability to logically express thoughts and opinions is insufficient. Further study should aim to express your thoughts and opinions.
3 80 ~ 99	You are able to communicate information about yourself and familiar topics by using basic vocabulary and combining fixed expressions. However, your ability to express things accurately is still insufficient. Your next goal should be to convey information accurately by paying attention to features such as word order and tense.
2 60 ~ 79	You are able to communicate a minimal amount of information about simple things and familiar topics by using simple vocabulary and fixed expressions. However, it seems you can only express a limited amount of information at this stage. Your next goal for further learning should be to convey more information using multiple sentences.
1 0 ~ 59	Your ability to use basic phrases and fixed expressions appropriately in daily life seems still insufficient. Your next goal for further learning should be to build up basic vocabulary and to learn fixed expressions you can use.
